

NEW SCHOOL, RYE

Structure Plan Policy requires development to sustain, conserve and where possible enhance the character, local diversity & quality of the landscape and natural and built environment.

Policy En2 (j) seeks minimisation of the impact of any development close to AONBs

The photographs above are before and after shots from the balcony of a house in Love Lane. Whilst it is understood that loss of view is not a planning consideration the pictures do help illustrate why residents in Love Lane are upset.

The photos show:

1. The coloured building in its rural setting next to the allotments.
2. The white rendered finish and yellow 'funnels' - the first sight of Rye if arriving on the High Weald trail.
3. The contrast between the old town and the new building.

Please bear in mind that the impact of the building is slightly softened by the trees in leaf. The building will be much more visible during the winter months.
